Hermann Field Is Freed From Polish Prison

American Cleared Of 'Framed Charges', Red Radio Announces

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Hermann Field, a U. S. citizen who disappeared in Red Poland in August 1949, has "been cleared of all charges and released from prison," the Warsaw radio said today.

The broadcast said an investigation conducted by Polish authorities disclosed that the charges which led to Field's arrest were "framed up by an American agent."

Field will be given "full compensation" and action will be taken against all persons responsible for his arrest, the report said.

Fields' secret arrest was disclosed Sept. 28 in Washington by his former jailer, Jozef Swiatlo, a top official of the Polish secret police until he fled to the West 10 months ago. Field disappeared after boarding a Prague-bound plane at Warsaw.

Brother Also Missing
Hermann Field is the brother of Noel Field, a former official of the U. S. State Department who disappeared in Prague in May 1949.

Noel Field's wife Herta also disappeared and they later were reported under arrest in Hungary.

The official communiqué broadcast by Radio Warsaw said: "Polish authorities last year ordered an investigation into a num-

Mrs. Anna Irene Pickens, 54, of RD 1, Homeworth, wife of John Pickens, Knox Township School principal, and Mrs. Addie Neal, 30, of RD 1, Diamond, were killed instantly in a two-car collision five miles north of Ravenna at 2:05 p.m. Saturday.

Two others were injured in the accident which occurred at the intersection of Routes 44 and 303 in Shalersville.

Mrs. Pickens, an English teacher at Knox School, was a passenger in a car driven by Miss Grace Johnson, 47, of Alliance and the YWCA in Youngstown.

Robert Neal, 29, the other driver, and another passenger in his car, Cephus Smith, 24, of RD 1, Diamond, sustained cuts of the scalp and bruises and were admitted to Robinson Memorial Hospital in Ravenna.

Two other passengers in the Neal car, the Neals' four-month old baby, Novella, and Smith's wife, Alberta, 16, escaped injury.

Miss Johnson suffered cuts.

State highway patrolmen said Neal, who was traveling west on Route 303, failed to stop for a stop sign and struck the side of the Johnson car which was traveling north on Route 44.

Mrs. Pickens had a fractured skull and Mrs. Neal, internal injuries.

Patrolmen said Neal may be charged with manslaughter.

Knox School classes have been postponed until further notice because of Mrs. Pickens' death.

Mrs. Pickens was born Oct. 30, 1900 in Amsterdam, the daughter of Max and Della Smith. She lived in the Homeworth area her entire life.

She attended Mount Union, Marietta and Westminster colleges, and was graduated from Kent State University in 1923. She was a member of the Middle Sandy Presbyterian Church, the Homeworth Eastern Stars, Alpha Xi Delta Sorority, and the Homeworth George D. Worth American Legion Post Auxiliary.

She also belonged to state and national teachers organizations. Prior to beginning her duties at Knox School, she taught in Alliance schools.

Besides her husband and mother at the home, she leaves a son, Robert of Homeworth, and two grandchildren. A brother, John P. Smith, and her father preceded her in death.

Funeral service will be held on Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Cassidy-Turk Funeral Home in Alliance in charge of Rev. Donald McGarr and Rev. John Stevens. Burial will be in Fairmount Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening from 7 to 9.

Mrs. Neal leaves two other children, Clara, three, and Robert, one. Her body is at the C. E. Woolf Funeral Home in Ravenna.

Salineville Keno Game Shut Down
SALINEVILLE — A public gambling operation in the village drew to a halt Saturday night with the shutdown of Keno, a game resembling bingo, at the Lighthouse Roller Rink.

Columbiana County prosecutor James L. MacDonald watched the game for a short while Saturday night, then stepped in to order the operators to discontinue the game sponsored by the Salineville Community Improvement League.

The game, apparently directed by a handful of northern Ohio men, has had the community up in protests. The Salineville Ministerial Association circulated a petition appealing to the county prosecutor to rid the village of the gambling on the ground that it is a "public nuisance."

Warren Bettis, attorney for the ministerial association, reports that Mayor Karl Lindner has objected to the closing of the game despite the fact the association has secured the signatures of 200 people protesting against it.

Drawing crowds of 75 to 80 people, mostly women from Stark County, Keno was played at the rink four nights last week.

The league said proceeds were for continuing work on a new athletic field.

Democrats Appear To Be Running Slight Edge In Northeast Races; GOP Steps Up Campaign

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of summing up stories by roving Associated Press reporters who are analyzing the campaign in various sections of the country.)

By BELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—A vague but widespread feeling of uneasiness—mainly over jobs and economic security—appears to be the big political factor on the Atlantic Seaboard today in the last week before the elections.

Democrats are counting heavily on it to give them what they call a "junior landslide" Nov. 2.

Republicans, recognizing the feeling, argue that the economic situation was even worse before the Korean war. They are pleading with the voters to "give like more time" and say conditions are steadily improving. And President Eisenhower himself has jumped into the campaign.

How will this be reflected at the polls next week?

A general consensus is that, at the moment, the Democrats seem to have the edge in many major races in the Northeast. There is considerable talk of a "democratic tie," based on the elections in Maine and Alaska, along with a scattering of municipal contests that were won by Democrats.

Republicans do not concede any trend. They say it is Democratic sales-talk designed to influence the uncertain voter. But many GOP candidates frankly admit worry. The moves in the high command reflect it.

Last week, President Eisenhower cut a birthday cake in Connecticut for Gov. John Davis Lodge, who is hard-pressed in his battle for re-election, and then the President went cavalcading with Sen. Irving M. Ives through some 40 miles in New York. Straw-vote polls indicate Ives is running behind Averell Harriman, Democratic candidate, in the race for governor.

From Maryland to Vermont, the situation is complicated with inviolable elements and political imponderables. Examples—

1. Race prejudice is playing a part in some of the contests. How strong it is nobody knows. People seldom talk openly about it, and there is no way to determine how it will affect them when they close the curtain in the voting booth.

2. No single great issue has emerged to stir the voters. Economic conditions are not the major factor along the whole seaboard. Even where they are, workers do not always reflect an expectable attitude. In a Connecticut factory, a machinist told this correspondent, "Sure, we miss the overtime money, but we like the hours better. Anyway, most of the boys knew the gravy train would stop some time."

3. Apparently as a result of the absence of high-powered issues, voter apathy is indicated by the drop-off in registration in New York, Connecticut, and Delaware compared with the last mid-term election in 1950. For the nation as a whole, however, the eligible voter population is up. Will the spotty declines help the "ins"? And do they prove, as the Republicans claim, that there is no "protest vote" this year?

4. The President still seems largely popular, but some people who were "Eisenhower Democrats" in 1952 tell you they are not voting Republican this year. How big such a swing might be is incalculable.

5. Dairymen in upstate New York, and poultry raisers in Delaware and Maryland, are unhappy about the farm program. However, a milk producer said, "The surpluses were created by price support. It's hard to know what to think."

6. A top GOP lieutenant said his party has been the victim of "a succession of bad breaks." For example, he referred to Secretary of Defense Wilson's "bird dog" statement and the withdrawal of Rep. Stringfellow from a House race in Utah after admitting his story of wartime heroism was a hoax. But Republicans disagree about the final effect of these incidents.

These are some of the quick-silver factors operating along the heavily populated coast from New England through Maryland.

Nine states in the region are electing 7 governors, 6 senators and 90 representatives. A majority of the offices are now held by Republicans. The state-by-state lineup appears like this today:

NEW YORK — Straw-vote figures baffle most political analysts at the moment. Ives, the GOP candidate for governor, piled up a record plurality in 1952, even running ahead of Eisenhower. Harriman is making his first try for elective office. As a campaigner, he is neither colorful nor exciting. Yet the polls show him leading Ives, and Republicans are particularly perturbed by the New York Daily News poll, considered especially significant. GOP leaders in New York and Washington say they just can't believe it. And the Democrats, when talking off the record, offer no convincing explanation of the poll figures.

Republicans hold 27 of the 43 congressional seats, and one is vacant. They fear a net loss of one seat. Democrats predict they will gain a minimum of four and a maximum of 11 "if the sweep is as big as it looks now."

NEW JERSEY — The main race here is for a Senate seat and most observers believe Rep. Charles Howell, Democrat, will defeat former Rep. Clifford Case. The Republican candidate is beset by opposition within his own party, stemming largely from the 1952 fight between supporters of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft and the backers of President Eisenhower. The President has endorsed Case and recently conferred with him in New York, where he reaffirmed the endorsement. But Howell still is given the edge.

Neither party makes any strong claims of victory in the 14 House races. The GOP has an 8-6 margin. The Democrats expect a net gain of one.

MASSACHUSETTS — Two prominent Republicans, Gov. Christian A. Herter and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, are in tight races for re-election. They appear to be leading in this final week before the election. Herter's challenger is Robert F. Murphy, Democratic veteran of the state Legislature. Former Rep. Foster Furcolo, Democrat, is running against Saltonstall. Democrats concede that Furcolo was "hurt" when Democratic Sen. John Kennedy did not publicly back him in the race. Saltonstall promptly began reminding voters that he and Kennedy jointly introduced 11 bills in the last session of Congress, saw seven of them pass.

Republicans hold eight of the 14 House seats. They expect to break even "at worst," possibly gain one. Democrats hope to hold all their present 6, and gain 1.

CONNECTICUT — Gov. Lodge's Democratic challenger is former Rep. Abraham A. Ribicoff and at the moment the race looks neck-and-neck. The Democratic National Committee is more optimistic about Ribicoff's chances than are his own managers in the state. Ribicoff ran ahead of Adlai Stevenson in Connecticut in 1952 ever though he was defeated for the Senate. The President's appearance at Lodge's birthday party

Oct. 20 gave the governor a big boost, his lieutenants claim, but they still say the contest "looks close."

The six House battles appear to hinge largely on the result of the gubernatorial election. Democrats hope to take four if Ribicoff wins, and believe they may win two if he doesn't. Republicans expect to retain the five they have now.

VERMONT — NEW HAMPSHIRE — Democrats generally concede defeat in these two Republican strongholds. In Vermont, however, a 63-year-old dairy farmer, E. Frank Branon, is putting up a strong fight for the governor's office. His backers say, "If the Democrats could do it in Maine, we can do it here." The state usually promotes its lieutenant governor, however, and most observers believe the tradition will not change this year. Hence, they see Lt. Gov. Joseph B. Johnson the victor over Branon.

New Hampshire is electing a governor, two senators and two representatives. Democrats say they have a good chance to win one House seat, due to a GOP tactical fight in that district. They are given little hope in the other races.

RHODE ISLAND — This is a Democratic stronghold. While it gave President Eisenhower a slim plurality in 1952, it elected all Democrats on the rest of the ticket. Gov. Dennis Roberts, long-time mayor of Providence, looks well ahead of the Republican candidate, Dean Lewis, mayor of Newport. Sen. Theodore Francis Green, 87, the oldest man in the Senate, is out stumping the state against Walter I. Sundlun, Providence lawyer, and seems certain of another term in Washington.

MARYLAND — The segregation issue has been brought into the elections here and the effects are hard to gauge. Harry C. Byrd, Democratic candidate for governor, noting that the state has practiced segregation for many years, recently said, "I believe it would be unwise to end that system immediately." Gov. Theodore McKeldin has said he would enforce the law.

Pamphlets opposing integration also have appeared in the electioning. Byrd and McKeldin are in a close fight. The state has never elected a GOP governor twice in succession.

Republicans have a 4-3 margin in the house now and say they will "break even" this year. Democrats predict they will gain two seats, possibly a third.

DELAWARE — Here, too, the segregation question has arisen, although candidates of both parties have avoided taking a stand on it. Nevertheless, because the state has a Republican administration, Republicans feel that the controversy is hurting them. The Senate race pits Sen. J.

Allen Frear, Democrat, against Rep. Herbert B. Warburton. Frear, popular with Republicans because of his voting record, seems to be leading at this point. In the House race, Mrs. Lillian Martin, a Republican prominent in state office is believed to be leading Harris B. McDowell, farmer and former member of the Assembly.

VOTE "YES" on Amendment 1

To Provide a 4-Year Term For the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, and Attorney General Effective Jan. 1, 1959

If you want more efficient, economical government for Ohio, vote "YES" on Amendment 1 because . . .

- A four-year term will give the governor and other administrators more time to accomplish an effective, constructive program.
- A four-year term will give the governor a solid core of time to do the state's business after his first year of learning his job and before his last year of campaigning for re-election.
- 28 states now have four-year terms for governors and none are contemplating a return to the two-year term. Many "Little Hoover Commissions" in the states which still have two-year terms have recommended a change to four-year terms.
- A four-year term will give state executive officials a greater sense of responsibility toward their offices since they can expect to plan and carry out a more extensive program.

The 4-Year Terms Will Not Be Effective Until AFTER The Election of a Governor In NOVEMBER, 1958.

Bar Assn. To Study Artificial Insemination For New Laws

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bar Assn. has ordered a study of artificial insemination with a view to recommending a law to the 1955 Legislature.

Illinois presently has no law covering rights of persons involved in "test tube baby" cases. There are two such cases pending in Superior Court.

Samuel A. Rinella, chairman of the association's Matrimonial Law Committee, yesterday appointed a two-member subcommittee to be hearing Wednesday. Rinella said a recent report by a Chicago physician that he performed between 200 and 300 such inseminations indicated an immediate need for such a law.

Rinella said physicians and lawyers will be called before the committee for recommendations and discussion of these questions to be covered by the proposed law:

1. Defining the rights and liabilities of the doctor performing the insemination.

2. Defining whether the donor is the child's legal father or whether the mother becomes the sole natural parent.

3. Determining whether the practice of artificial insemination is adulterous.

4. Is prior consent of the husband legally necessary and is such consent a bonding contract?

5. Is the husband, with or without prior consent, legally bound to support the "test tube baby" in the absence of formal adoption?

6. Establishing inheritance rights of a baby born of artificial insemination.

Judge Gibson E. Gorman has been asked to rule Nov. 15 in one case involving a 5-year-old boy.

The 36-year-old machinist husband for divorce, contends the boy was born of artificial insemination and that her husband is not the father.

The mother asks the court to rule artificial insemination is not contrary to public policy, does not constitute adultery, that the child is legitimate and that the husband has no right or interest in the child.

Whether the child was born of artificial insemination is the issue in a second case. The husband, 32, petitioned for custody of a 3-year-old boy and an injunction restraining the 30-year-old mother from calling the boy a "test tube baby."

Results of blood tests are to be made known in court Nov. 4.

The mother, a physician and a nurse have testified the father consented to artificial insemination and it was performed about eight months before the baby was born.

The father denied consenting and claimed blood tests will prove he is the father.

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New 1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Corporation presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America—and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car—a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car, completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged—its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer.

When you see the new Pontiac on Friday or Saturday—Oct. 29 or 30—you will be immediately impressed by its remarkable new styling. No other car in the world looks like this new Pontiac!

When you drive it you will be astonished at its performance. For the 1955 Pontiac introduces the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8, an all-new engine that has already been proved in more than 3 million test miles!

When you price the new Pontiac you will come face to face with the basic Pontiac idea—you will be agreeably surprised that so much car, so much sparkling newness, so much luxury, so much downright goodness can be priced so near the very lowest.

We cordially invite you to come in on Friday or Saturday and see for yourself what a superb all-new General Motors masterpiece has been created to carry the wonderful name "Pontiac" for 1955.

U. S. Plane With 21 Aboard Is Missing

NICE, France, (AP) — French police said today a U.S. Air Force C-47 missing on a flight between Rome and Lyon, France, may have crashed in the snow-covered French Alps. The plane carried 16 passengers and a crew of five.

Police here said the throb of a plane's engines followed by an explosion was heard last night in Pierlas and Peone, two French Alps towns about 30 miles north of Nice. Officers began a search of the area this morning.

The C-47 earlier was reported missing over the Mediterranean and an aerial search was begun in weather described as "downright prohibitive."

All 21 persons aboard the craft were believed to be military personnel. The plane was based at Manston, England. Names of those aboard were withheld.

Merger-Minded

Revived rumors of a possible merger of the AFL and CIO stir none of the official misgivings in the U. S. Department of Justice that have been stirred by other merger rumors. Yet the economic effect of such a merger would be far greater than the effect of a merger between two steel companies or a couple of automobile companies.

In the early days of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, it was clear to the Supreme Court that any combination which restricted the liberty of a trader to engage in business was illegal. In the Danbury Hatters case of 1908 the Supreme Court ruled that a union which had conducted a boycott against the products of a firm engaged in a controversy with the union was liable to damages under the Sherman Act, the same as a business competitor would be if the same offense were committed.

In 1914, Congress sought to clarify labor's position by declaring in the Clayton Act that "the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce" and that nothing in the anti-trust laws should be construed to forbid the existence and operation of labor organizations. But that was done long before labor leaders dreamed of the power that was to be theirs some day when they, instead of the businessmen with whom they bargained, were to hold monopoly power in their hands.

It has been the practice in recent years to greet each new rumor of a merger of the CIO and AFL as an interesting possibility in unionism. It should become the practice to greet each new rumor of this kind as a pointed question concerning the original intent of anti-monopoly legislation and the wisdom of the blanket exception granted to unions under the Clayton Act.

Expert Opinion

A lively reaction has been stirred up by Gov. Dewey's strongly worded opinion that the United States needs to bring political campaigning up to date. He thinks it has been allowed to lag behind, with special reference to its failure to outgrow below-the-belt methods common in the 19th century.

The public issues in a campaign, in the Dewey view, should be fought hard and relentlessly; that is the highest level of representative democracy anyone can attain. But mud-slinging, personal attacks and the kind of irresponsible smearing recently carried on in New Jersey do not belong in politics in a country that should set a good example in popular government.

In the New Jersey incident, a Republican candidate for senator was smeared by dissident members of his own party because a woman with the same name as his sister once was pointed out by a professional Communist informer as a Communist sympathizer. It then was revealed that the woman in question had died years ago — but it also had been revealed that there are Americans capable of trying to establish guilt by blood relationship, a primitive practice abandoned hundreds of years ago by civilized people.

Gov. Dewey is retiring from politics at the end of this year. From a man who has watched campaigns at the governorship and presidential level, an opinion that Americans cannot afford to let politicians go primitive at the expense of representative democracy is delivered with the ring of authority.

Education Is An Asset

It is a rare school district these days that does not need to go to its taxpayers almost every Election Day with a request for more revenue to meet rising operating costs or to pay off bonds for new construction.

Some taxpayers who have not kept their thoughts straight talk as if education had become a liability, instead of an asset. They are so shortsighted that all they can see is the money being used to develop the asset; they make no appraisal of the value of the asset, itself.

No taxpayer would want to live in a community whose schools were not trying to keep pace with the times. Such a community would soon lack property value — and eventually it would lack school children.

The school cost problem is tough to solve because the expense of education rises in direct ratio to the number of pupils enrolled but the income for education, except for state-aid income, is based on static property valuation. This is why boards of education must keep asking for revenue revisions. It is their job to maintain a working relationship between outgo and income by showing what adjustments must be made in levies or the tax duplicate.

They are under constant pressure from ever-growing enrollment. This year's all-time high of 23 million in the United States is expected to increase to 25 million by 1958. The struggle to keep up with the rate of population increase has just begun. No school district can avoid it unless its residents have lost interest in progress and their boards of education have quit trying to preserve the educational asset to the limit of their ability.

New York Rule

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Rammy Control Is Seen Making Return

The dream of a Tammany leader is to have a governor of his own choosing and of assured obedience in Albany, and a mayor of the same nature in City Hall. That dream is about to be realized by the least worthy Tammany leader in 50 years, Carmine de Sapio, a man probably known to very few people outside New York City.

Even the massive Charles Murphy achieved this dream only in fleeting moments during his reign from 1902 to 1924. In the years of Al Smith, Tammany owned the mayor but never the entire obedience of the governor.

The relations of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Tammany ran from cool to mutual hatred, a feeling which the present Tammany holds toward F.D.R., Jr. During most of the long governorship of Herbert Lehman, the City Hall was controlled by the reform mayor, Fiorello La Guardia. For 12 years Gov. Dewey has not only held the governorship but has had wide influence in the city.

THERE ARE going to be some bitter things said about the President by the lesser Republican leaders who really count in elections after the debacle that seems now to be imminent in New York. And still more bitter comments about the White House palace guard. Those things are clearly in the minds of those leaders as they are working this fall to try to awaken an indifferent electorate. But they are suppressing their real feelings and are calling for support of the ticket.

I asked a friend about one magnificent woman who has devoted years of her life to working with little recognition or reward in the offices of the county committee. The answer was that she and her head down, utters no word of complaint, but is driving her workers to collect $10 bills from people who gave hundreds in 1952. And so it is with dozens of the lieutenants, captains, and colonels in the Republican organization of New York.

Upon this cloudy political landscape President Eisenhower appeared on Oct. 20. He made two nonpolitical addresses in New York on the glories of peace, the beauties of mutual forbearance, and tolerance. New York Republican workers, parched with thirst and hungry for food, were given a mere picture of delectable islands of plenty.

THEN, ON THE day after this visit, the papers carried a story, no doubt inspired by the Eisenhower advisers, that the President, alarmed by Democratic gains, planned to send his cabinet out to save the day.

This gesture, made exactly 12 days before election, was something that would make angels howl like wolves on a prairie. If ever an alarm was sounded after the house was burned to ashes, it was this one.

Elections are not won or lost in days. They are won or lost by what is done over months and years. This one, so far as New York is concerned, is lost.

And the Republican workers in the districts in New York who will not talk now will say after the perfunctory tally of the vote:

"In 1952, Gov. Dewey threw all of his great power over the organization against Taft and for Gen. Eisenhower. At least half of the workers in that organization favored Taft. But since the organization had called for Eisenhower and he was nominated at Chicago, we all went to work."

"Never did workers try so hard we sacrificed leisure, comfort, and pleasure. We labored until the polls were closed on election night. Then we rejoiced over what we thought was a national Republican victory after 20 years of defeat."

"BUT AS TIME went on, we were permitted to see thousands of Democrats held in office by a Democratic Civil Service chairman in Washington chosen by President Eisenhower. Little or no patronage came our way. We witnessed people whose past Republican affiliations were dubious enough holding the advisory seats next to the President."

"We saw the advice of those timid people taken when they advocated a 'Be Kind to Democrats' week. We heard talk of purging the entire Taft wing of the Republican party, and we saw the people who talked that way having free access to the White House."

"And now we get a lot of non-political speeches when it is too late to save us from disaster. And worst of all, we hear from authentic sources that the President says this is 'just another election.'"

Apparently we have our toil and sweat to elect an administration that thinks politics is a dirty business.

"Now we will witness De Sapio taking over city and state for years to come. We suppose that this is what the President means by 'just another election.'"

Power Issue Misrepresented

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Last July while I was in the Northwest I noted in a column the strange education of Adlai Stevenson in the mysteries of hydroelectric power. He said he "wanted to learn something about both sides of the power question." He wended his way to Oregon, and for such impartial instruction he sat at the feet of Richard L. Neuberger, who is a candidate for the Senate seat now occupied by the able Guy Cordon.

The course of instruction must have been pleasantly relaxing because there were during that week pictures in Oregon papers — Adlai fishing, crossing streams on logs, and sitting in luxurious ease with nary a book in sight.

To be sure, "all work and no play" might make even Adlai a dull boy. And a dull Adlai would be more than we could stand. As it is, the dose of a quipping, gay Adlai is bad enough.

At the feet of Richard L. Neuberger is one of the most ardent and demagogic exploiters of the power issue in modern times. Proof of that is that in 1950 he complained bitterly in the left-wing "Nation" that Wayne Morse was a backsliding liberal and an opportunist who submitted to "a marriage of convenience" with reactionaries and isolationists.

AMONG OTHER sins charged to Morse was that he had "bartered a liberal voice in Washington for political security at home." But apparently the prodigal son has returned, for Morse and Neuberger are fighting shoulder to shoulder against an imaginary "power trust."

This is the sort of fountain to which Stevenson repaired for refreshment on the power issue.

During the past week the instruction seems to have borne fruit. In a speech by the titular head of the Democrats in Albuquerque which in sheer demagoguery would make his instructor Neuberger proud.

Speaking of the Columbia River Basin, Stevenson charged that "the greatest remaining power site in the United States, Hell's Canyon, has been abandoned to a utility whose plans for development contemplate using little more than half the potential."

There are three gross misstatements in that short passage. First, Hell's Canyon is not the greatest remaining power site in the United States. Stevenson is confusing the height of the dam with the site.

THERE ARE PLENTY of advantageous sites on the Snake River itself farther down stream, as well as on the Salmon River, which flows into the Snake below Hell's Canyon.

It would be possible to build a dam as high as the one planned by the Truman administration in several sites, providing the Congress wanted to throw money away on more height. The way of economy is to build lower dams and to use the water over and over.

Second, the administration has not "abandoned" the Hell's Canyon project to a utility. Congress refused to act upon the federal project when it was under Democratic control and when Truman was President.

The Eisenhower administration withdrew its objections so that the Idaho Power Co. might submit its case to the Federal Power Commission. That is where the matter now rests.

Third, it is simply untrue that the utility would use "little more than half" the potential. The difference, as shown by many witnesses not employed by the private company, would be about 10 per cent.

By faith Joseph, when he died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel; and gave commandment concerning his bones.—Hebrews 11:22.

Gentlemen's Campaign

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

The theory that a congressional election could be won by photographs of Republican candidates for Congress together with President Eisenhower has produced no practical results.

Nobody cares about these particular photographs as long as they can get some of Marilyn Monroe and similar ladies.

The photographs, so avidly sought and so widely advertised, are playing no part in this campaign. It is an axiom in politics that no man can transfer his personal popularity to any other man.

So the theory that a congressional campaign could be fought without issues, without debate, without attacks and counter-attacks has also dissipated itself into nothing. A tepid campaign can produce only tepid reactions.

Those who conceived the idea of a light discussion about nothing by gentlemen with the amenities of a gentleman's club bar did not understand the temper of the American people.

THE CAMPAIGN is getting nasty. It will be very nasty in its last week because candidates are getting desperate. Irving Ives's accusations against Averell Harriman, candidates for governor of New York, are a response to the insistence for a fighting campaign. They all want to be elected but too many Americans do not want to vote.

Why bother if the candidates do not bother to fight it out, as the fashion has always been in this country? If the nice gentlemen who wish to keep the campaign gentle and refined are distressed by the developments in New Jersey, they have not yet seen the worst in New York or Connecticut or California. If a gubernatorial contest in Arkansas becomes a series of accusations, it is nothing compared to the raising of the Dixon-Yates issue as a basic campaign argument.

The President finally made an appeal for a Republican Congress and in that he was right.

The surprising fact was that Harry Truman should have opposed that concept of what is good for America.

It was Harry Truman who conducted a campaign all over the country about the 80th Congress, the do-nothing Congress. The 80th Congress was a Republican Congress during the Truman administration. It was under the leadership of Robert A. Taft. It was an embarrassment and a harassment for President Truman.

HE KNOWS THAT it is tough on a president to have a Congress of the opposite party. President Eisenhower should have known that too. He should have known it because he is the leader of a political party. It is his business to know how American politics operate. He should have recalled the unfortunate experience of President Herbert Hoover whose career as president was wrecked by an antagonistic Congress.

Those who advised President Eisenhower not to fight for a Republican Congress, not to fight hard, misled him. If the Republicans lose either house or both of them, his next two years will be very tough. The congressional committees will be chaired by Democrats and they will use the next two years to build campaign material for 1956.

Sen. John McClellan will head the McCarthy committee and his counsel will be Robert Kennedy whose ambition it is not to be overshadowed by a famous father and a distinguished brother.

THE JUDICIARY Committee, which should have gone to Pat McCarran, will now go to Sen. Harley Kilgore of West Virginia, a so-called liberal and a Republican hater. He may also head the present Jenner committee, although that should go to Sen. James O. Eastland of Mississippi.

Sen. Estes Kefauver will be back, reinforced by a large vote in Tennessee, and now a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president. He could use the next two years to advantage.

If President Eisenhower thinks he had troubles with Joe McCarthy, he has seen nothing yet. The Democrats are out to win in 1956 and their slogan is that the Republicans do not know how to run a government.

If they gain control of the Congress, they will try to prove that and they will go into the past two years with a fine comb. It could be very unpleasant.

To blame: The fine gentlemen in President Eisenhower's entourage who believe that politics in the United States are nasty and unfit for gentlemen. If the voters agree with them, they will have ample opportunity to stay away from what is nasty and dirty.

But this is also true: It is best for the country when a president and Congress are of one party.

Mucous Colitis Is Not Thought Dangerous

Several readers have recently asked for a discussion of mucous colitis, saying that this is a subject which they have never seen discussed in this column.

There is actually no material difference between this condition and what is also known as irritable bowel or spastic colon—a subject which has been commonly discussed here, and which is an extremely widespread disorder.

I do not like to call it disease because some may feel that it constitutes a menace to life, which it really does not.

Diarrhea followed by constipation, often accompanied by discomfort in the abdomen and growling sounds, are the most common signs of this uncomfortable ailment. Most of those who have a spastic colon think they are constipated because, after a period of fairly loose movements, there may be a delay of a day or more before another occurs.

This idea is wrong. The waste material is passing through the bowels too fast rather than too slowly. The wavelike motions of the intestines, which carry the waste matter downward, occur too often and produce discomfort. When there is nothing remaining in the intestines there can be no bowel movement no matter how often the wavelike motions occur.

People who are nervous, thin, and easily upset are particularly liable to spastic colon. The nervous system sends unconscious messages to the bowel which causes the intestinal waves to come more frequently. This, of course, makes the symptoms of a spastic colon worse. Nearly all who have it notice that the symptoms are worse when they are angry, anxious or annoyed.

Some foods, particularly raw fruits and vegetables, irritate the walls of the bowel and stimulate the intestines to increased peristaltic waves. Cathartics do the same thing, only more so.

The strain of modern living has an unfavorable effect, and the diet is important. The laxative foods and laxative and cathartic drugs should be avoided. A diet, which contains a high proportion of what are called bland foods, is therefore desirable.

A disappointing feature of this uncomfortable, but not dangerous condition, is that even when recovery seems to be complete, almost any emotional strain or indiscretion in eating will start it off again. Spastic colon does not predispose to cancer or other serious complications.

Will Wonder Never Cease?

Elmer Twitchell, the inveterate Winter Garden addict, went there this week to see Mary Martin in "Pettit Pan," and still thinks she should have sung "My Heart Belongs to BARRIE," and featured a new version from South Pacific entitled "There's nothing like a dame on an invisible wire." . . . Mary broke all world records for the running broad jump in leaping from Broadway to Never-Never Land. It was some sort of an Olympic record for Sir James Barrie, too.

Elmer admitted it was pretty wonderful, but rubbing his eyes, declared, "I still think Barrie had his trouble getting through the first and secondary defense set up by Al Jolson, Ed Wynn, Bobby Clark, Olsen & Johnson, Gaby Deslys, Ethel Merman, the four Marks Brothers, Lee and Jake Shubert and hosts of others through the years when the "Garden was no place for children."

Mr. Twitchell's face, long hardened by proximity to a Winter Garden scene featuring runways, strip-teasers, knockabout comedians and belly-laughs, had taken on a rather childlike glow as a result of the Martin miracle. . . . This change of countenance was also noticed on numerous wine buyers, tired businessmen and Broadway hard-boiled characters.

There was no demand that Miss Martin "wash that Peter Pan right out of her hair." . . . This despite the fact many a Winter Garden first nighter had come thinking Peter Pan was a candy bar and that James Barrie was the fellow who figured in that famous turf horse-painting scandal.

Peter Pan awaiting a song cue! . . . Barrie with kettledrums. . . the spirit of Maude Adams carrying on in the world's most famous haven of girl shows! — Only Mary Martin could make it seem real. She had to be part musical comedy star, part dramatic actress, part circus performer and part cantata performer.

We half expected to see Ezio Pinza come flying out after her on an invisible wire. And we felt there should have been a song by Mary entitled, "I'm in Love With a Wonderful Sprite?" If Mary had had that invisible wire in "South Pacific" she could have commuted between Bali Ha'i and New York. We imagine that the front of the famed Winter Garden, so long accustomed to socko electric signs rather expected such screamers as "Barrie's Beauties," "A Fantasy Riot" and "Through These Portals Fly the Most Beautiful Elfins on Earth" . . . With perhaps the stars emblazoned as "Martin, Barrie and Peter."

We just heard of a kid who tried hard to go on with his piano lessons but finally came to mother sobbing, "Mummie, I'll never make a good pianist. My smile is too small."

We don't dig the claim of the Netherlands government that it went on for years taking top secret info from an American National Security Agency man assuming that it was perfectly okay because such exchanges had been permitted during the war. Ya mean Uncle Sam is never expected to keep a secret under any circumstances!!!

That resounding groan you hear comes from millions of parents astonished by the declaration before a Senate Committee that the deluge of crime plots and brutalizing routines via video in the American home doesn't give a single child wrong ideas. How contemptuous of the welfare of the kids can you get? Incidentally, when does the Senate Committee which has been looking into TV grisly crime programs lose patience?

Abel Green, famed Broadwayite and boss of "Variety" has made, of all magazines, Good Housekeeping!—Abel says the suburbs and country are just a hangover with trees . . . Reveals he has a dog named "Skeeta" which has never been off his penthouse roof or seen another dog "Skeeta" thinks he's a person, Abel insists. How . . . about a headline "Pooch Picks Pix Hick Nixers Punch-Packing Penthouse?"

A whisky copany announces it will market a quality whisky at $12.95 a FIFTH. A suggestion that at that price it bring back the old-fashioned quarter bottle caused every director to swoon, we hear.

Some critics say Irving Berlin's tunes and lyrics in "White Christmas" are not up to par, but we will wager that "Count Your Blessings" winds up as a number to last through the years.

Kissing The Baby

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The poor man's philosopher looks at politics: Well, if you want your baby kissed by a politician this year, you'd better hurry—you've only a week to go.

After election, the winning candidate is too busy figuring how to pay his campaign debts to bother with babies.

What mother wants her baby kissed by an unsuccessful politician anyway? It might bring her infant bad luck.

Kissing babies long has been one of the occupational hazards of political campaigning, but the tradition has died out rapidly in recent years. Cautious candidates now try to avoid any situation in which they may have to kiss any baby under 18 years of age.

There are several reasons. For one thing, it's an awkward task. Politicians and babies are naturally allergic to one another. They share a wary, mutual distrust.

Even if the baby submits to the ordeal quietly, it is a clammy, sticky adventure to the politician. But many babies don't like to be nuzzled and pawed by strangers. They react violently to the approach of the politician's sickly smiling muzzle, sensing at once the falseness of his charm and that here is a guy trying to get something from them for nothing. "You never can be sure what they'll do," said one old timer. "Some scream and yell. Others kick and struggle, then hold their breath and turn blue."

"And some of them, even though they can't walk or talk, are natural born smart alecks. They just lie there, looking cute and cunning and innocent, until you bend over and get your face in reach. Then they rear up and sink their nasty little fangs in your nose, or claw your cheek to ribbons with their fingernails."

"Everybody gets a big laugh out of this. But it isn't smart for a candidate to get his nose bitten off or his face scratched up during a campaign. Nobody believes you when you explain a baby did it, and your opposition is bound to start a whispering campaign that the wounds were inflicted on you by your wife after you struck her a low blow during a quarrel at home."

Many veteran observers—for some reason there are no non-veteran observers in politics—believe the practice of kissing babies costs more votes than it wins.

"If you say the baby is a pretty little girl and it happens to be a little boy," said one, "you make the parents mad and lose two votes right there.

"If you kiss the baby, and later it comes down with a cold, you lose the votes of the parents, the grandparents, the uncles, the aunts—the whole family and some of the neighbors. Everybody is sure you've deliberately tried to give the child pneumonia."

"Actually, of course, it's the other way around—babies are a real danger to a politician. They look so clean and cuddly and harmless. But even the healthiest baby is chockfull of all kinds of germs, from his small rosy toes right up to his leering little eyeballs."

"A politician is risking his whole career every time he kisses a baby. He may come down with any disease from mumps and measles to athlete's foot or lockjaw. Imagine getting lockjaw two weeks before election!"

"The safest thing to do when you are confronted with a baby is to keep it at arm's length, pat the little monster lightly on the head twice, then go and wash your hands as soon as the parents take it away."

So if you've got a baby and want to help your party win at the polls, don't take it to your own candidate to be kissed. Make the other party's candidate kiss it.

Anything can happen to him. Think how proud you'll be if your own little baby can swing a mighty election all by itself, 20 years before it is even old enough to vote.

BIKE PAPOOSE—Mrs. Louis Lipschultz, a teacher at Vassar College in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has found an easy way to get around the campus and still take her daughter, Elizabeth, along. Using an Indian cradle board, she wraps her baby up papoose style and puts her on her back. She says little Elizabeth loves it.

13 Sisters Finally Have Baby Brother

PITTSFIELD, Maine (AP)—Thirteen sisters gained a brother yesterday and lost their claim on being the nation's largest all-girl family.

Leslie Benjamin Brooks, 6 pounds, 8 ounces, crossed up some of the plans when he was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brooks at their Snake Root Rd. farmhouse. But he got a warm welcome nonetheless from the 39-year-old couple and the 13 Brooks daughters, aged 1½ to 16.

"Now that I've a boy I hope it will be the end," said Brooks, a $50-a-week truck driver.

"We'll love him just as much as the girls," his wife declared.

A blue blanket was found in which to swathe the newcomer but, as his surprised sister Eunice, 16, pointed out, "Oh, dear! All his clothes will be pink."

The Brooks family had mustered a layette in pink for the expected arrival of girl No. 14.

Ike Wishes America A Gay Halloween

Eisenhower last night combined a wish that America have a "gay" Halloween with a tribute to Thomas A. Edison in a filmed television appearance.

"I hope," he said, "you and your children have a gay (Halloween) evening and let's all give a little prayer that their childish pranks will be the only kind of mischief with which we Americans must cope."

Says He Saw Slaying, Man Is Held As Killer

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 52-year-old junkman who told police he witnessed the slaying of a grocer early Saturday has been charged with committing the crime himself.

Alfonso Hill, a Negro, had told police he had seen two Negroes enter the grocery about the time of the killing. He furnished detailed descriptions of them.

The victim was Frank Leimkuhl, 62. A woman customer found him fatally wounded on the floor of his grocery. Another customer recalled seeing a junk wagon near the store about the time of the killing.

Hill, also charged with attempted robbery, was held without bail.

Flower Arranging Illustrated To Welcome Wagon Members

A myriad of colorful roses, chrysanthemums of all types, other flowers, berries and waxed fruits were used by Mrs. Ray Kenreigh and Paul and Eldon Gross in illustrating the art of flower arranging to 49 members and guests of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club who met Thursday night in the Newgarden Rd. home of Mrs. Russell Merrifield.

The three guests arranged various novelties in containers of all types, and demonstrated how gifts for all occasions can be made from growing things.

As Mrs. Kenreigh and Paul Gross worked on designs, Alden Gross explained the origin, propagation and care of plants, and commented on the work done by the other two.

The arrangements later were given as gifts to the women from the Endres - Gross shop, a Welcome Wagon sponsor. Those receiving them were Miss Louise Burchfield, Mrs. Wesley Becker, Mrs. Roy Yaw, Mrs. J. H. Benson, Mrs. Paul Jones, Mrs. Pehr Anderson, Mrs. William C. Keep Efficiency In Mind When You Remodel The Bath

Many homeowners could make their bathrooms much more attractive and convenient if they would examine them critically before beginning a modernization program.

The Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau has the following suggestions for improving bathroom efficiency:

1—There are better places for a bathtub than under a window. The window usually means a cold, drafty bath in the winter, and also the nuisance of having to clean out a layer of dirt and dust from the bottom of the fixture each time before you use it. A good idea is to move the fixture, or else brick up the window with glass block.

2—Provide plenty of electrical outlets for shavers, hair dryers, heaters, etc., but make sure they cannot be reached from the bathtub.

3—Adding an extra lavatory will increase the utility of your bathroom by letting two people wash up at the same time. Twin countertop lavatories provide the utmost in modern bathroom beauty and convenience.

4—Partitioning between fixtures (compartmentizing) allows several people to use the bathroom facilities at the same time with at least a modicum of privacy. Compartmentizing adds coziness to your bathroom and can be done quite inexpensively.

5—Provide ample storage space for linens and toilet articles.

New Trend In Kitchens

The trend toward color and away from antiseptic white in modern kitchens has been advanced by the use of colored structural glass.

One such glass is produced in 11 opaque colors for easily cleaned wainscoting, work counters, splash panels and table tops.

MAKES APPLICATION EASY

When painting small articles, use a one-inch brush. For painting around window glass and doing small trim work, use a round or flat sash brush.

Added Facilities Cure Bathroom Traffic Jam

ADDITIONAL bathroom can be built in under the stairs, in partitioned corner of kitchen, in attic or cellar. Mirrors and good lighting can make the space appear larger. Recessed radiator, drawers under counters, sink add real space.

It's the smallest room in the house and everyone has to get in and out of it between alarm-clock time and go-to-school-and-work time. It's the bathroom and it's a steamy pandemonium most mornings.

The answer is an extra bathroom. It's not as easy to install as a new tablecloth but it's a whole lot easier than getting the whole family under one shower.

But the plumbing? That's the question most families raise to the second bathroom suggestion.

There are many solutions that avoid a replumbing for the whole house. Any space that backs up to the already-there bathroom can utilize a lot of the piping in the walls. A bath over or under the old one will, too. The basement often has plumbing for laundering that can be tapped. The kitchen, if it's

Modern Builder Includes Nature

Today's progressive home builder is bringing people and nature closer together.

To achieve this union, the builder saves all the trees on the building site that he can. He keeps the existing contours of the land where possible and builds a house that fits the lot.

Moreover, he brings nature right into the house itself with the use of simple, natural materials.

One result of his creative kind of home building, builders say, is that the current generation of home shoppers has developed real discernment as to what looks genuine and natural and what looks artificial in outdoor-indoor living design.

Quizzing the Gardener

Q—What does a three-number fertilizer designation mean?

A—In a 10-6-4 mixture, for example, 10 indicates the percentage of nitrogen, the six means percentage of phosphorus and the four that of potash.

Q—What is the chemical you put into a tree stump so that it will rot quickly?

A—None that we know of. Tests by the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate that the answer is an ax and a pick and shovel, unless you can engage a bulldozer or stump-pulling device. If the stump is far from the house, engage a licensed dynamiter.

Q—What are autumn daffodils?

A—Autumn daffodil (Sternbergia lutea) is a common name for a bulb which is not a daffodil at all, although like the daffodil it belongs to the amaryllis family.

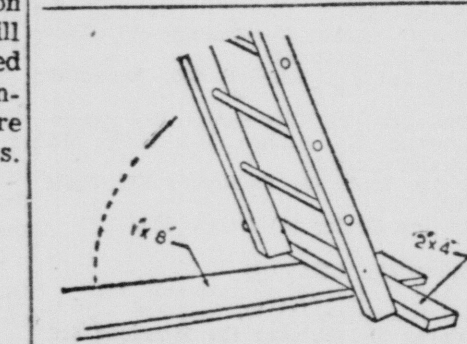

Bright yellow, funnel-shaped flowers and strap-like leaves appear in the fall from bulbs planted in loamy, well-drained soil in August or September.

Q—What are cultural requirements of peonies? We want to prepare the soil now for some just ordered from the nursery.

A—A well-drained location is necessary since peony roots resent standing water. A well-prepared humusy soil dug 18 inches deep, rotted manure dug into the bottom, covered with good soil—and roots set so that the crown of the plant is two inches, no more, below the surface. Firm soil about the roots and mulch well for the first winter.

COLOR PLAYS TRICKS

When choosing paint for the walls of a room, remember that your sample should be quite a bit lighter than the finished effect you wish to achieve. The same color on a large area looks darker than it does on a small surface. And four walls of the same color reflect each other and deepen the color effect.

IT'S EASY to raise a long ladder single-handedly with this simple device. Nail a 4-foot scrap of 2x4 to the end of the long plank. Place the ladder on the plank so the legs will engage the 2x4. Raise the ladder rung by rung, walking along the plank to keep it from slipping. The American Builder, trade publication, says any length ladder can be raised this way with little effort.

4 Building Permits Issued Last Week

With the issuance of four building permits covering $7,610 in construction last week, the month's total rose to 12 permits on $18,810 worth of building projects.

Three of last week's permits went to persons building additions to present structures, while the fourth was issued to Ralph Gabler for a three-car garage at 836 3rd St. The estimated cost of the garage was noted as $1,860.

C. O. Steffel received a permit to construct an addition to a building at 419 E. Euclid at a cost of $3,000; Peter and Mary Taus, carpenter at 115 Buckeye Ave., $400 and Elma Auld, a one-room addition at 485 E. 8th St., $1,750.

Too Much Insulation Causes Home Moisture

A good deal of the trouble caused by moisture in homes today is due to the tendency to make them airtight.

In older houses, the interchange of outdoor and indoor air in winter through cracks around windows and doors was sufficient to prevent a build up of excessive humidity within the house.

Weather stripping, storm doors and other devices are designed to conserve fuel and make the house more comfortable. While this is desirable, it may also be the cause of moisture condensation unless the house is properly ventilated and the humidity controlled.

Excess rain water not properly drained away from a house is a prime cause of sub-surface dampness troubles. Such excess moisture causes the house owner to be plagued with ants, mildew and dampness in the basement of his home.

Bassett Scores Twice As Browns Trounce Cardinals 35-3

49ers Upset Lions 37-31, Rams Outscore Bears 42-38

CLEVELAND (AP) — Maurice Bassett, a youngster anxious to prove he is good enough at his trade to support a wife, scored two touchdowns yesterday in Cleveland's 35-3 victory over the winless Chicago Cardinals.

Bassett, a 23-year-old rookie just up to pro football from Langston, Okla., University, is to be married today to Miss Dorothy Shelby, a Cleveland school teacher.

Proving he had his football lessons down pat, the 230-pound rookie capped a 41-yard Brown drive with an eight-yard touchdown gallop in the second period. Then in the third quarter, he went seven yards for the last Cleveland tally.

The game, Cleveland's second win of the season—both against the Cards—showed that the Brown defense is beginning to jell despite the loss this year of Captain Tommy Thompson, the stickout line-backer who tore a knee cartilage last season.

Cleveland defensive squad members held the speedy and elusive Ollie Matson to a net of six yards in three attempts and set up two of the Cleveland scores.

Don Paul, passed dizzy as the Browns lost to Pittsburgh last week, intercepted a Chicago toss and returned the ball to the Card 16 to make way for a touchdown in the third period. Seconds later end Lenny Ford recovered a Chicago fumble on the Card 13 and Bassett made his second scoring romp.

Cleveland's Otto Graham, having another good day, completed 16 of 24 passes for 182 and one touchdown. The six-pointer came on a 26-yard bulge to end Dante Lavelli.

The veteran quarterback sneaked over himself for two other touchdowns, once from the one-yard line following a 63-yard Brown drive in the first period, and the other time from one foot out in the third period. His second sneak followed Paul's interception.

Chicago scored its three points early in the opening quarter on a 41-yard field goal by Pat Summerall.

Coach Paul Brown commented that his team "looked considerably better. I think the fellows have realized that the competition is very rough and have made up their minds to do something about it."

Remarkable that the defense "looked much better," the coach could point with pride to another rookie, defensive end Carlton Massey. Massey, up from Texas, teamed with veteran end Ford to keep a constant pressure on Chicago passers.

In all, the Browns gained 85 yards rushing and 235 passing, compared with 60 passing and 160 rushing for the Cards.

Next Sunday at Municipal Stadium the Browns play New York's Giants, currently tied with Pittsburgh and Philadelphia for first place in the National Football League's Eastern Division, each with four victories and a single loss. San Francisco's power-packed 49ers owned a triple distinction today:

1. They are the only undefeated eleven in the National Football League.

2. They are in undisputed possession of first place in the Western Division for the first time this season.

3. They are the only team to defeat the defending champion Detroit Lions in nearly a year.

The 49ers ground out a thrilling 37-31 victory yesterday that jarred the Lions out of the lead and into second place.

An overflow crowd of 59,600 that jammed San Francisco's Kezar Stadium cheered itself hoarse as the 49ers burst into a 17-0 lead in the first quarter and never were headed although they had to stave off a desperate last-period rally by Detroit.

Y. A. Tittle, quarterbacking with a cast on his broken left hand, and full back Hugh McElhenny, running like an unbroken colt, led Frisco's explosive attack.

Tittle passed for two touchdowns and McElhenny reeled off runs of 60 and 34 yards to snap Detroit's 10-game winning streak.

It was a great afternoon for quarterbacks, especially for veterans Charlie Conerly, Otto Graham and George Blanda. Conerly, enjoying his best of seven professional seasons with New York, literally tossed the Giants into a three-way tie for first place in the Eastern Division.

Chuckie Charlie passed for three touchdowns in a 24-7 triumph over Washington's hapless Redskins.

Pittsburgh made the three-way tie possible Saturday night, defeating the Eagles 17-7 on the passing of Jim Finks and the running of Lynn Chandoin.

High-powered running by Paul "Tank" Younger and Dan Towler offset a tremendous one-man show by Chicago's George Blanda and spearheaded the Rams to a free-scoring 42-38 victory over the Bears.

Blanda completed 28 aerials for 328 yards and hurling four of Chicago's five touchdowns.

A recovered fumble in the third period set up a Green Bay touchdown that gave the Packers a 7-5 triumph over the Baltimore Colts.

Earl Smith Boosts Big 10 Scoring Lead

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa's Earl Smith cashed in on two more touchdowns Saturday to lengthen his Big Ten scoring lead over Ohio State's Hopalong Cassidy.

Smith's scoring spurt against Indiana gave him eight touchdowns for 48 points while Cassidy scored one against Wisconsin giving his six touchdowns and 36 points.

The figures include all games played by Big Ten schools.

Bobby Watkins of Ohio State dented the scoring column with two extra points to move ahead of Alan Ameche of Wisconsin and Bob McNamara of Minnesota. Watkins has 32 points while Ameche and McNamara have 30 each.

Little Tad Weed of Ohio State booted a field goal and two extra points to run his total to 16 points. Weed, who has kicked 13 extra points, is 15th in the scoring list although he has yet to score a touchdown.

BOAST UNDEFEATED RECORDS NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati and Ohio State are among 10 major colleges which today boast undefeated and untied football teams. Cincinnati has won six games, Ohio State five.

Miami Defeats Ohio U., 46-13

Kent State Trounces Marshall 41-20

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The extra point isn't playing too big a part this season in Ohio's collegiate football campaign.

Of the 119 games played by Buckeye schools, only seven have been decided by conversions. Youngstown, Defiance, Marietta, Miami, Toledo and Dayton have profited by the extra-point rule, while Wittenberg, John Carroll, Central State and Xavier have lost that way.

Buckeye clubs have defeated three out-of-state teams through accuracy from the two-yard line, and only Central State has fallen before an outsider in that manner.

Ohio State, riding the Big Ten crest and a red-hot Rose Bowl possibility after polishing off Wisconsin, 31-14, in Saturday's No. 1 game, goes to Evanston for a tilt with Northwestern this week. The Wildcats lost their fourth in five starts, bowing 14-7 to Pittsburgh Saturday, and this could be the breather the Bucks need before the stretch drive against Purdue and Michigan.

Miami's rampant Redskins get their chance this week to wrap up the Mid-American Conference title by whipping Western Michigan. Miami knocked off defending champion Ohio U. Saturday, 46-13, for its third league victory. In each conference game, Miami has scored exactly 46 points—and the tilt with Western Michigan is the last in the loop for the Redskins.

Kent State, with a 41-20 victory, pushed Marshall's Thundering Herd out of the conference fight, the second loss in three starts for the West Virginians. Toledo evened its league record at 2-2 by downing Bowling Green, 38 to 7.

Of this week's 22 games, 13 are against out-of-state foes. Ohio clubs travel to Illinois, Massachusetts, Kentucky, New York and West Virginia, and play host to teams from Michigan, West Virginia, California, New York and Indiana.

In interstate play thus far, the Ohioans have a scoring edge of 1094 to 837, with 35 victories, 24 losses and 2 ties.

The Saturday slate: Western Conference: Ohio State at Northwestern.

Mid-American Conference: Western Michigan at Miami. Bowling Green at Kent State, Marshall at Western Reserve.

Ohio Conference: Denison at Wittenberg, Muskingum at Capital, Wooster at Akron, Ohio Wesleyan at Mount Union, Hiram at Otterbein.

Mid-Ohio League: Findlay at Ashland. Just for fun: Ohio University at Harvard, Xavier at Boston College, College of Pacific at Cincinnati, Adrian at Wilmington, Ohio Northern at Marietta, Rochester at Oberlin, Toledo at Eastern Kentucky, Kenyon at Hamilton, Manchester at Bluffton, Anderson at Defiance, Youngstown at John Carroll (N), and Heidelberg at Morris Harvey (N).

New Owners Of A's Seek League Approval

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A representative of the new owners of the Philadelphia Athletics left for Chicago today to seek American League approval of the four-million-dollar deal which prevented transfer of the A's to Kansas City.

The agreement transferring ownership of the team from the Mack family to an eight-man syndicate was completed early today when Roy Mack signed the legal document. His brother Earle signed just before him. The brothers also signed for their father Connie.

Atty. Alfred Luongo said he would present the agreement to League President William Harbridge today. It was expected Harbridge would be asked to make a telephone check of the other club owners in the league for their assent.

Only one team in American League history won as many as 90 games and finished fourth. Cleveland in 1950 won 92 but finished behind New York, Detroit and Boston.

Scio High Defeats Fairfield 15-0

Scio High School defeated Fairfield Twp. 15-0 Saturday night in a game played at Leetonia.

Scio scored 7 points in the second quarter and 8 in the fourth. Riggs tallied the first touchdown for Scio in the second period on an 11-yard run. Grimes scored the extra point on a run.

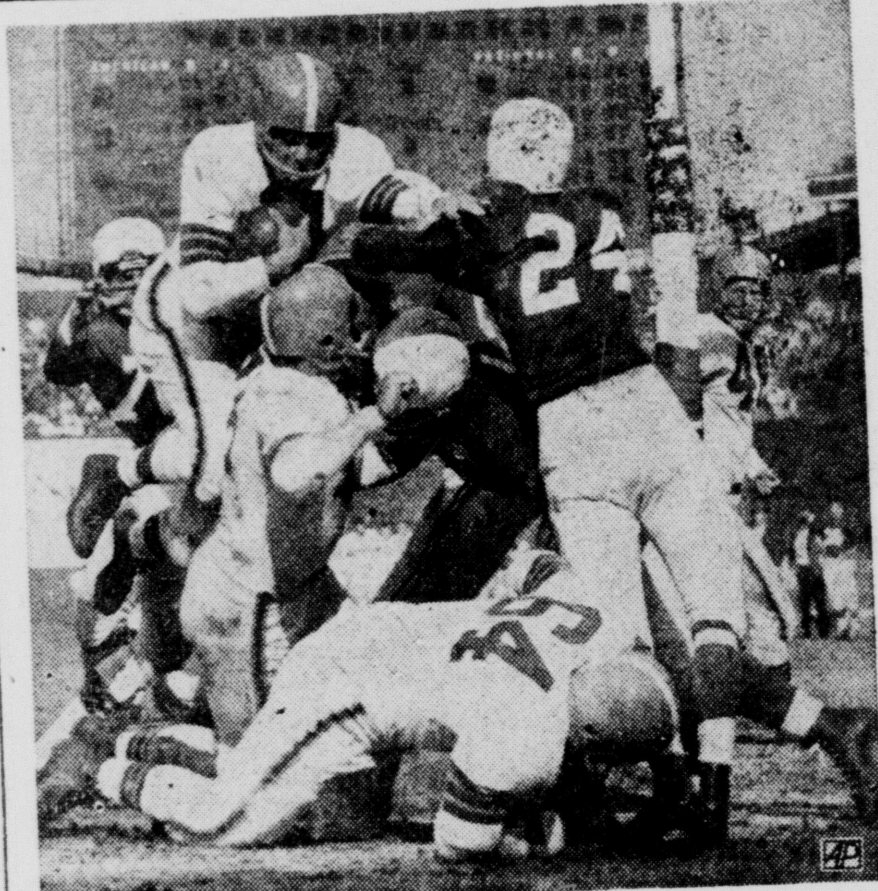

In the fourth period, Fairfield's Dick Smith slipped in his own end zone and Scio tallied a safety for 2 points. Later in that quarter they climaxed a long drive with a 14-yard pass from quarterback. Horstman to end Brooks for a touchdown.

Fairfield next plays Salineville Saturday night at the Leetonia Field. The postponed New Waterford game has been rescheduled for Nov. 6.

Salem Freshmen Play Minerva Reserves Today

The Salem freshmen football squad will play the Minerva Reserves this afternoon at 4 p.m. in Reilly Stadium.

Sam Pridon is coach of the Salem freshmen. This will be the fifth game of the season for the squad.

GRAHAM CLIMBS TO SCORE.—Cleveland Browns quarterback Otto Graham clutches the ball as he climbs atop players to score in first quarter against the Chicago Cardinals at Comiskey Park in Chicago. Cardinals back Al Brosky (24) reaches to push Graham back. Lying in foreground is Browns' guard Abe Gbron (64). Browns won, 35 to 3.

Bratton Faces Varona After Long Layoff

By JACK HAND

The Associated Press

Johnny Bratton, who has been in drydock since he was suspended for a lackadaisical performance against Johnny Saxton at Philadelphia Feb. 24, gets back to work tonight at New York's St. Nicholas Arena against Chico Varona of Havana.

Bratton blames his Philadelphia trouble on Saxton, whom he describes as "the fightingest fighter I ever encountered," according to Willie Gilzenberg's press release. After watching Saxton win the title from Kid Gavilan last Wednesday, who can say Bratton is wrong?

For a short time, Bratton held the National Boxing Assn. version of the welter title. Now that Saxton has taken over, Bratton again has championship ambitions. It had been proved quite convincingly in Chicago last year that he had no chance of ever beating Gavilan.

Bratton takes a career record of 59-22-3 into the St. Nick's bout, to be televised by Du Mont in some parts of the country. Varona has a 55-16 record.

Carmelo Costa, unbeaten Brooklyn featherweight, tops the card at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway to night against Rudy Garcia of Los Angeles. Costa answered some of the questions that had been asked about him when he shookoff Gene Smith's solid punches and came on to win in his last start.

In 26 bouts, Costa has 23 victories and 3 draws. Garcia won the California feather crown in his last start, beating Al Cruz.

The bout will be carried on ABC television.

Scio High Defeats Fairfield 15-0

Scio High School defeated Fairfield Twp. 15-0 Saturday night in a game played at Leetonia.

Scio scored 7 points in the second quarter and 8 in the fourth. Riggs tallied the first touchdown for Scio in the second period on an 11-yard run. Grimes scored the extra point on a run.

In the fourth period, Fairfield's Dick Smith slipped in his own end zone and Scio tallied a safety for 2 points. Later in that quarter they climaxed a long drive with a 14-yard pass from quarterback. Horstman to end Brooks for a touchdown.

Fairfield next plays Salineville Saturday night at the Leetonia Field. The postponed New Waterford game has been rescheduled for Nov. 6.

Trojans, Bucks Eye Rose Bowl

Both Get Past Big Threats To Titles

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

With the annoying smog blown out to sea, the air over Los Angeles was diffused with the scent of roses today and unless the air around the Scio River is especially heavy, you could smell the same aroma in Columbus, Ohio.

It may be only the last week in October elsewhere, but in those two spots it's Jan. 1, 1955, and Southern California and Ohio State, a pair of upstarts in the Pacific Coast and Big Ten conferences, are battling in the Rose Bowl.

The Trojans and the Buckeyes got past big threats this past weekend to remain unbeaten in their leagues. And at this stage of the season, that's enough to start the bowl drums.

After surprising California 29-27 last Saturday, Southern Cal now needs only a form performance against Oregon State, Stanford and Washington in conference play. The Trojans then wind up against UCLA, the big, bad defending PCC champs—but they need only finish as the runner-up to the title-favored Uclans, who can't return to the Rose Bowl, to gain the New Year's Day date.

Southern Cal gets started on the last lap this Saturday against Oregon State, which was mauled by UCLA, the nation's No. 3 team, 61-0.

Ohio State, which beat California 17-14 in the 1950 Rose Bowl, moved out of its dark horse role last weekend by beating previously undefeated and second-ranked Wisconsin 31-14. For a return to the Pasadena classic, the fourth-ranked Buckeyes now must dispose of Northwestern, a suspected patsy; Purdue, a possible upset; and Michigan, a bonafide challenger. Northwestern, beaten by Pitt 14-7 last weekend, opposes Ohio State this Saturday.

Once-beaten Michigan made it a two-team race in the Big Ten with its 34-0 rout of Minnesota, previously unbeaten and No. 8 in the nation. The Wolverines take on Indiana this Saturday on the way to what may be a winner-take-all showdown with Ohio State Nov. 20.

The Cotton Bowl also apparently will have an unexpected entry New Year's Day in Arkansas. The Razorbacks, No. 7 nationally, added to their unbeaten record with a clear-cut, 6-0 success over fifth-ranked Mississippi.

The Razorbacks will be trying for their fourth Southwest Conference victory against Texas A&M Saturday. Then only Rice and SMU would stand between Arkansas and the bowl bid.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, plays the once-ambitious Colorado Buffaloes this Saturday after taking it easy against fellow Big Seven member Kansas State 21-0 last weekend. The Buffs, hopeful of an upset in the Big Seven, were upset themselves and bowed to Nebraska 20-6.

UCLA has California on the list this Saturday.

WINS HYDROPLANE RACE

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—"Petty Babb," driven by Harold Morrison of Middletown, Ohio, yesterday won first place in the 136 hydroplanes section of the inboards division in the eighth annual All-West Virginia Boat Racing Championships. "Cronium," driven by Ron Musson of Akron, Ohio, won first place in the 135 hydroplanes section of the inboards division.

2nd Tennis Star Joins Newspaper As Copy Girl

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Another high-ranking woman tennis player has gone to work as copy girl on a newspaper.

Shirley Fry, 27, Akron, Ohio, yesterday took a job as copy girl on the St. Petersburg Times, following the example of Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly, who had a similar job on a newspaper in her home town.

Miss Fry, ranked No. 3 nationally, said she is retiring from big-time tennis competition because an injured arm failed to respond to treatment.

Ohio State, Michigan Face Easy Opponents This Week

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State and Michigan, current leaders in the pickings' Saturday while Purdue, Wisconsin and Minnesota try to maintain their slim title hopes against the also rans.

Ohio State climbed over the hump Saturday by belting Wisconsin, 31-14. Not only did the Buckeyes push aside the top contender but they also notched their fourth conference triumph without defeat.

This leaves Ohio State with only three Big Ten games and Northwestern, a team which hasn't won a conference game since 1952, is next.

Michigan, defeated only by Army and 34-0 victor over Minnesota, is at Indiana. The Hoosiers have but one victory this season and that was over College of Pacific.

Illinois is at Purdue, Wisconsin at Iowa and Michigan State at Minnesota, rounding out a full conference schedule.

While Ohio State and Michigan must wait until the final Saturday of the season for a showdown, assuming such is the case, Wisconsin, Purdue and Minnesota remain the only teams with a chance for the crown.

Wisconsin has an edge in that it plays a seven-game schedule, the same as Michigan and Ohio State, while Purdue and Minnesota have only six conference games listed.

Purdue, however, is the only one among the hopefuls which plays either of the leaders. The Boilermakers, upset victors over Notre Dame and Michigan State, host Ohio State two weeks from Saturday.

In addition to Indiana and Ohio State, Michigan also faces Illinois and arch-rival Michigan State.

Illinois finally won a game by swamping Syracuse 34-6, and could give pass-minded Purdue trouble. Illinois' pass defense looked exceptionally sharp against Syracuse.

Wisconsin's highly-praised defense fell victim to Ohio State's determined attack and is in for another rough afternoon against Iowa.

Minnesota, ranked among the nation's top teams last week, hopes to regain some of its prestige against Michigan State.

Hayes Warns Buckeyes Against Overconfidence

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State has five straight victories under its football belt but Coach Woody Hayes brought the squad right back to fundamentals again today.

Hayes doesn't want overconfidence to wreck Ohio State's chances with Northwestern this weekend. "We won't let down; we've earned too many victories the hard way," Hayes announced.

Only one man missed the sweat suit workout today. He was guard Jim Parker, who hurt a leg in the Wisconsin game Saturday. Parker may be sidelined until next week.

ber of legal cases which revealed gross violations of law. In the course of the investigations authorities unmasked an official of the Polish security service as an agent of an American espionage system.

The official was identified as Josef Swiatlo and the broadcast said he had been responsible for the arrest of several persons, including Hermann Field.

Swiatlo said in Washington last month that he believed Noel Field and his wife were dead. The State Department said notes had been sent to Hungary demanding the release of Noel and Herta Field and to Poland seeking freedom for Hermann Field. A spokesman said the department was acting on the assumption all three were alive.

reason in the world why the 18th District cannot be the most prosperous area in the country."

Mr. Hunston then stressed his program for bringing an end to the unemployment and lack of business in this district. He said he planned to "spear-head" the following program immediately after he is elected:

He would contact labor unions, farm organizations, chambers of commerce, manufacturers' associations, service clubs and others "to solicit their help in forming the 18th District development organization."

This development group, he said, would have as its main objective "the betterment of the entire district."

This means, he explained, the development organization would work to bring new businesses into the district as well as new orders for established businesses. It would also develop, he added, "a publicity campaign keyed to the idea of selling the 18th Congressional District."

The Salem attorney said "local organizations will be started to develop and work out their own particular problems of employment and business."

He promised "to devote my full energies and the use of my staff to complete cooperation with the district and local organizations."

Mr. Hunston cited many federal agencies which are designed to alleviate the economic difficulty with which this district is faced.

Mr. Hunston stressed the fact that "a working congressman can see that the people of this district get their fair share of government contracts and assistance."

He said he would "sparkplug the drive for elimination of unemployment and loss of business," adding: "I will not permit the 18th District to be the forgotten district of the country whenever there is business to be had."

Mr. Hunston concluded by saying that "a combination of the people of the 18th Congressional District working for their betterment and a working congressman can solve the economic problems of today."

However, the youngsters never left home before and the parents could give no explanation for their action. At 8:30 p.m. Crosby telephoned police.

alleged errors which he contends were made in the legislation necessary to get the bond issue on the ballots.

The city officials pointed out that Hunston, as the city's legal advisor, personally prepared the legislation and that if any errors occurred the solicitor is responsible.

"Mr. Hunston now finds himself in the uncomfortable position of having to appear in court and plead a case against himself," the administration's statement reads.

"We, the members of the administration, feel that either deliberately or through ignorance or indifference, Mr. Hunston has betrayed the people of Salem as well as the administration," the statement concludes.

Hunston filed the suit after action by Mrs. Coyne, city auditor, who charged that several discrepancies occurred in the legislation which City Council had passed regarding the $450,000 sewer bond issue.

Infant's Body Found Floating In Lake

Coroner E. S. Sturgis appealed today to persons who might be able to shed some light on the drowning of a newborn infant in Westville Lake Saturday morning.

Knox Township trustees are expected to approve burial of the infant in the North Georgetown Cemetery. The body is now at the Stark Memorial here.
